FLAMES WORK HAVOC

A Big Fire Rages in the Village of Seneca Falls, New York.

Several Acres are Burned Over, Immense Loss Resulting.

Disastrous Conflagration on the Chicago Lake Front.

Continuation of the Talks on the Tariff in the Senate.

Proved a Fire Trap.

SENECA FALLS, N. Y., July 30. The Pew building, against the erection of which, three or more years ago, an earnest protest was made, fulfilled its mission as a fire trap this morning. It is feared also that it has proved a death trap.

A few minutes after 3 o'clock this morning the building was discovered on fire and in a few minutes the entire structure was in flames. It was approachable from but one direction and the atmosphere quickly became so hot that the firemen could not endure it. The splendid Phœnix block, involving the electric light plant, electric railway plant, postoffice, express office, Revell Printing establishment, the Courier establishment, Sanderson's furniture ware rooms and the Western Union telegraph office succumbed to the flames.

The flames spread rapidly along the street to the Hong opera house and that was consumed with all the buildings on Fall street on that side east to the Sheldon block, while on the north side the Co operative block was the limit. On State street the flames extended to and included the Kellogg livery stable. All three newspapers were burned out and the telephone service is suspended. The Western Union company is doing business at the railway station. The fire was under control at 9 o'clock, but soon broke out again in Tedman & Glaske's dry goods store, which was burned.

Nearly three acres of buildings were burned, many of the best business buildings in the village being wiped out. Careful estimates place the loss between $600,000 and $700,000, with insurance of about $160,000

Disastrous Fire in Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 30. A disastrous conflagration occured to night on the lake front, at the foot of Michigan street, near the mouth of the Chicago river. It began on the docks of Fitzsimmons & Connell, contractors, and quickly spread to the lumber yards of Payer & Co., Whitcomb & Co., Prestigo & Co. and H. Puebicke & Co. Between ten and fifteen acres of lumber piles were burned and a number of freight cars. The direction of the wind alone saved the large manufacturing establishments in the vicinity. The losses aggregate $1,000,000.

Fifty-First Congress

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Sherman offered an amendment to the deficiency appropriation bill, which was referred to the committee on appropriations, appropriating $30,000 for making a boundary line between the United States and Mexico, and called attention to its urgency.

The resolution offered by Gorman, fixing the hour of meeting at 10 a. m., was taken up.

Cockrell said he would support the resolution, and wanted to give a few reasons why some taunts should not have been made recently by the senators from Rhode Island and Maine (Aldrich and Frye), about the delay on the part of the democratic minority. He wanted those senators to see the relative amount of work done in the two houses. The senate had, up to July 28, passed 946 bills, and 499 other bills had been acted upon by committees and had been indefinitely postponed, making the whole number of senate bills actually disposed of, 1445. That was considerably more than one-third of all bills introduced in the senate. No such record had ever been made before. The house, out of over 10,000 bills introduced, had passed 865, a very small fraction of the whole. Out of all the senate bills passed, the house had only passed 231, while of the house bills the senate had passed 618. How, he asked, had so much work been done in the senate? Had the minority been wasting their time by interposing objections or by unnecessary discussion? Had the minority consumed the time the majority had done under the last administration in criticising the executive or pleading the civil service law in order to prevent the removal of democratic officials before the end of their terms of office? Nothing of the kind. Had not the bills for the admission of Idaho and Wyoming, as states, been allowed by the minority to pass, although every one knew that neither one of them had sufficient population to entitle them to representatives in the senate? Those bills had passed only through the inconceivable forbearance and conservatism of the democratic minority and yet the democrats were criticised the moment they wanted a little explanation and light on the tariff bill. If there was a democratic majority in the senate and it had made an attempt to pass bills for the admission of New Mexico and Arizona as states, the senator from Maine (Frye) would have pranced up and down the centre aisle, and the senator from Vermont (Edmunds) would have raised his voice. They would have roared like caged lions and screamed like chained hyenas (laughter) against the action of the democratic majority. Why, he asked, had not the house disposed of more bills than it had? The reason was it had ignored in its organization and its changed rules the fundamental principles of parliamentary discussion. He quoted from a letter written by Thomas B Reed, in June, 1886, and published in the Chautauqua magazine: It would be remembered (he said) that Reed was then a member of the house of representatives. One of the sentences in that remarkable production was in these words: "Full, free and frank discussion is the very life of intelligent action." Another sentence was, "needless suppression of discussion is tyranny whether done by a king or a majority." He challenged any republican senator to show an instance where the democratic majority had attempted any unnecessary delay.

The resolution was then agreed to and the tariff bill was taken up. Morrill addressed the senate.

Morrill said that the ill natured denunciations of the American manufacturers by the oratorical free traders indicated that they preferred the prosperity of the foreign manufacturers to that of their own countrymen and that they would compel the latter to manufacture as cheaply as any foreigner, pay no higher wages, or abandon their business. The real purpose was finally to build down and degrade the present scale of wages received by American workmen. Coming to the subject of the agricultural depression Morrill said there was a glut of misinformation disseminated on that subject and a concealment of the fact that the prices of farm products are depressed throughout the world. The only possible remedy within the reach of the American farmer lay in positive protection against foreign competition and such encouragement to other avocations as would increase the consumers of their productions. He asserted that in 1888, had it not been for the duty of 20 cents a bushel on wheat, India would have snatched the market of New York from the state of Wisconsin, as well as from all other western states. Farm mortgage indebtedness had been grossly exaggerated and he understood the census reports would show that farm mortgages in Kansas and Maine were less than one quarter of the amount which had been represented. The charge that American farmers were hugely in debt, or more so than the farmers of any other country, was a gross calumny. Markets which could not be found abroad had to be made at home and they could only be made by protection. Referring to the countries of Central and South America, Morrill said that of agricultural products, cattle, sheep, and horses, they had an abundant and cheap supply, not only for home consumption but also for exportation. To carry any of these products there in the vain hope of finding a market would be like "carrying coals to Newcastle." On the question of sugar Morrill said, the adding of free sugar to the breakfast table presented a stronger case than that of tea and coffee presented in 1872 for like treatment. If, by a bounty, the United States could as had been done by several European countries, supply all its own sugar, ninety millions of dollars would be left at home that was now sent to Cuba, and elsewhere, never to return. In conclusion Morrill said that any amendment offered in good faith, that would improve the bill, would be cordially received, but all attempts to ingraft thorns upon it would, he hoped, be rejected.

At the close of Morrill's speech, consideration of the bill by paragraphs was continued and the amendment offered yesterday by McPherson was rejected.

McPherson continued to offer amendments for the reduction of rates on articles in the chemical schedule, but they were all mercilessly rejected by party votes. The only change made in the schedule was the reduction (on motion of Aldrich) of the duty on chloroform from 40 to 25 cents per pound.

Vest moved to reduce the duty on iodoform from $1.50 to $1 per pound, but it was rejected.

The tariff bill was then laid aside and the conference report on the District of Columbia appropriation bill presented. No vote was taken on it and after executive session the senate adjourned.

HOUSE.

McComas, of Maryland, called up the conference report on the District of Columbia appropriation bill. Cannon, of Illinois, resigning the right to call up the sundry civil bill for the reason that sickness in McComas' family necessitated his speedy return home.

Mutchler, of Pennsylvania, opposed the report. After debate the conference report was agreed to and the house went into committee of the whole on the senate amendments to the sundry civil bill.

Cummings made an attack upon the director of the geological survey and favored the senate irrigation amendment.

Cannon replied briefly and pending action, the committee rose.

The speaker announced the appointment of the following members on the committee to investigate the charges against Commissioner Raum: Morrill, Sawyer, Smyser, Goodnight and Martin, of Indiana.

The house then adjourned.

Ill Feeling for Celman.

LONDON, July 30. The Times correspondent at Buenos Ayres says: The exasperation against Celman is indescribable. Unless he resigns it is feared that attempts will be made upon his life. The bourse is closed and settlements postponed until August 9. President Celman does not appear to realize his position.

It is reported that the squadron has surrendered. The minister of war has issued a bulletin pardoning the rank and file of the revolutionists and declaring that 25,000 members of the national guard are ready to defend the country and President Celman. The bulletin is treated with derision and the copies which have been scattered throughout the city are trampled under foot by the people. The outlook is bad unless Celman's declarations are mere bravado.

PARIS, July 30. Despatches from Buenos Ayres dated the 29th announce that the government has granted amnesty to all persons who took part in the insurrection.

BUENOS AYRES, July 30, 1.30 p. m. The city is quiet and business is reviving.

A Move Toward Reciprocity.

WASHINGTON, July 30. Representative Sanford, of New York, to day offered, for reference to the ways and means committee, a preamble and resolution reciting Mr. Blaine's expression of opinion upon the sugar duties and reciprocity, postponing legislation on the sugar and molasses duties until next session and requesting the president to enter into negotiations with Spain and the Central and South American states looking to the consummation of reciprocal arrangements, etc.

The conferees on the original package bill have agreed to report the senate bill back.

Mysterious and Ghastly Find.

PORTLAND, Maine, July 30. Charles Thompson and his wife and son's wife, of Great Chebeague island report that yesterday while berrying on Goose island, near Chebeague, they came across the remains of the bodies of two children, on a rock. The four hands and four feet had been recently cut off. A large fire had been built near by and in the charred wood were bones, as if children's bodies had been burned there.

AN INTERESTING CASE

Hearing in the Case of the Rock Island vs. the Rio Grande.

The Dispute Over Use of Rio Grande Denver Terminals.

Justice Miller and Judge Hallett Sitting Together.

Distinguished Counsel Appear on Both Sides of Case.

A hearing in the injunction suit of the Rock Island and Denver and Rio Grande railroads was begun in this city yesterday afternoon as was stated would probably be the case in yesterday morning's GAZETTE. The hearing was begun in the music room of The Antlers hotel, with Justice Miller, of the United States supreme court, and Judge Hallett, of the United States district court, sitting in the case, and was not begun until 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The room was reserved and only persons admitted who were known to be interested. Among the interested spectators present, however, were President Cable and Assistant General Manager Allen, of the Rock Island; Mr. S. K. Hooper, general passenger agent of the Rio Grande; Judge Campbell, of the district court; Mr. W. S. Jackson, Mr. H. G. Lunt and others.

As attorneys for the railroads, Mr. Thos F. Withrow of Chicago, general solicitor, and Mr. M. A. Low of Topeka, first vice president, appeared for the Rock Island, assisted by Judge A. H Pattison of this city, the local attorney, while for the Rio Grande Messrs J. F. Vaile and Col. Easley of Denver appeared.

Mr. Low, for the Rock Island, made the opening statement of their case and was followed by Mr. Vaile for the Rio Grande. From the opening statements the case appears as follows: That in February, 1888, a contract was drawn up between the Rio Grande railroad and the Chicago, Rock Island and Colorado railroads, by which the last named company was to have use of the Rio Grande track between Denver and Pueblo, for certain considerations, provided it built into this city; that it was not until six weeks after that it gave notice that it would build into this city. That it did build into this city and for six months ran all of its trains between this city and Denver and Pueblo over the Rio Grande tracks under this agreement. By consolidation, however, the Chicago, Rock Island and Colorado became a part of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific. That six months after completing its road into Colorado Springs the Rock Island made an arrangement with the Union Pacific railroad by which it began to run part of its trains into Denver via Limon, diverting a portion of its trains from the Rio Grande track, but continued to use the Rio Grande terminals at Denver for all its cars, etc. Correspondence between President Cable, of the Rock Island, and General Manager Smith, of the Rio Grande, followed regarding this point and, the Rio Grande attorneys stated, that the Rock Island agreed to fully compensate them for such use at an early day, etc., but that it has failed to do so. The Rio Grande some days since notified the Rock Island that on and after August 4th it would no longer permit the use of its terminals, etc., for traffic brought over the Union Pacific. The Rock Island immediately applied in the U. S. district court for a temporary injunction restraining the Rio Grande from interfering with its use of the Rio Grande tracks under the contract, and it is argument in this temporary injunction that is now being heard. Judge Hallett has permitted the Rio Grande attorneys to file a cross bill in which numerous allegations are made but the attorneys for the road stated that they would not go into these on this preliminary hearing as they would involve the taking of testimony. The point in the case is that the Rio Grande claims that the Rock Island can not use its terminals at Denver or other points excepting for traffic brought over its line, and the Rock Island claims that under the contract it can use any part of the line or terminals designated as it chooses. The case is of course one of construction of the terms of the contract between the roads.

Copies of the contract between the roads, in printed form, were in the hands of the attorneys and were extensively read from. The contract is quite voluminous, occupying a number of pages of a pamphlet. According to the contract the Rock Island was to be "let into equal, joint, perpetual use, etc," of the Rio Grande tracks between Denver and Pueblo upon compliance with certain terms, among which were that it should pay 2½ per cent interest upon a fixed valuation of $3,500,000; should pay upon a wheelage basis its share of operating and maintaining the road jointly in the ratio as its wheelage compared with the whole wheelage of the road; that it should pay a certain per centage of the taxes, etc. On the other hand the Rio Grande was required to fence its track from Denver to Pueblo, to increase the size of the rail used, to place a third rail where none existed, and otherwise make extensive improvements.

It took but a short time to make the opening statements, and after the attorneys had presented such papers as they intended to use it was announced that Judge Pattison would open the argument for the plaintiff, and that Solicitor Withrow would close, and that Messrs. Vaile and Easley would speak for defendant. The attorneys each spoke for from thirty minutes to an hour, and it is impossible to give any adequate report of their speeches as they covered a wide range, discussed the various clauses of the contract and were all interrupted by questions proposed by the judges and by other counsel.

Mr. Pattison held that the paper binding the roads was not a contract but a joint agreement for the operation of the road. He held that under the agreement the Rock Island could possess and enjoy jointly the use of the track but that there was not a word in it limiting its use, and they asked that they be not interfered with in that use.

Mr. Vaile for the Rio Grande held that the Rock Island has not the right to use the Rio Grande tracks for business brought over other roads, and said that in every point the contract would bear out that only business carried over the Rio Grande track was meant. The fact that his company had spent such large sums, nearly $385,000, in preparing to receive the the business of the Rock Island was indication of its faith in the contract and that it expected to carry all of the Rock Island trains. He held that the contract should be estimated, according to the wheelage on the main tracks of the Rio Grande and not on the wheelage in the yards and terminals because of the impossibility of estimating the wheelage in the yards. The Rock Island was getting valuable terminal facilities at Denver without just compensation. The Rock Island, under its construction of the contract could deluge the Rio Grande terminals with cars brought over the Union Pacific, and yet the Rio Grande compensation would decrease. He did not claim that the Rock Island has no right to go into Denver over other roads, but if they do they have no right to use the Rio Grande terminals.

Colonel Easley followed Mr. Vaile for the Rio Grande. His time was largely taken up with reading opinions from English decisions in parallel railroad cases, and he had not finished when adjournment was taken. Mr. Easley held that it is the meaning and intention of the whole contract and not any part of it from which the construction must be drawn, and that to get a fair understanding of it one must remember the position of the two companies at the time it was drawn. He defined the word "occupy," used in the contract, to be putting the road to a use. If under the contract the Rock Island is not limited to bringing its business to Colorado Springs and thence over the Rio Grande track then there can be no limit to its power in building into Denver, Pueblo or other points and using D. & R. G. terminals. Colonel Easley was frequently interrupted by Mr. Withrow with questions. In one of them he stated that he would guarantee for President Cable, who had left the room, that he would sign any set of rules that would apply equally at Pueblo and Denver if Mr. Easley would agree to the same for the Rio Grande. Mr. Easley replied that he did not fully understand what was meant, and would not agree to anything without fully understanding it.

During Col. Easley's talk Judge Miller stopped him and called his attention to the words in the contract, "let into equal, perpetual, joint possession, etc," which he said were very strong words and hard to misconstrue, and that it would rest with the Rio Grande to show modifying clauses to these words in other parts of the contract.

The hour of five o'clock having arrived, Judge Miller announced that adjournment would be taken to 9:30 this morning, when the hearing will be continued.

Cavalry Shooting Practice.

FORT WINGATE, N. M., July 30. The first day's shooting of the preliminary practice of the division cavalry competition, was held here to-day. The weather was very favorable for good shooting. During the firing at the 200, 300 and 500 yard ranges, not a breath of air was stirring, and the glare was lessened by the sky being overcast with light, flakey clouds. Some excellent scores were made at the 200 yard range, private Andrew Keiser, of Troop H., Sixth cavalry, leading with a score of 44 out of a possible 50, while Lieut. Alex Gray of the Sixth cavalry, made the next best with a score of 43, thus falling short of Keiser's score only one point. At the 300 yard range the highest score was made by Corporal Thornton, with a score of 45 out of a possible 50, while Sergeant Henry Henser, of Troop G, Second cavalry, came in second with a score of 44. At the 500 yard range several 44s were made, but at the 600 range, a slight breeze having sprung up, the scores were not as good as might have been expected, although Corporal Swanson, of Troop D, Sixth cavalry, made a score of 43 points. There were fourteen competitors.

To Extend Free Deliveries

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Senator Mitchell, from the committee on post offices and post roads, reported favorably, with some amendments, the bill to extend the free delivery system. The bill as presented proposed to introduce the system into towns and cities of not less than 3,000 population or where the post office receipts were not less than $5,000 for the previous fiscal year. The committee changed these figures to 5,000 in population and $7,000 in post office receipts. A letter from the postmaster general shows that there are 291 cities and towns that would be entitled to free delivery and the estimated expense of putting it in operation is $67,046. The committee says that an appropriation of $350,000 will be amply sufficient for the present fiscal year, providing the bill is enacted into law at an early date.

A Triple Tragedy.

DENVER, July 30. A Ft. Grant, Arizona, special to the News says: Wm Roberts, a constable, became involved in some trouble to-day with J. W. Cress, the keeper of one of the most notorious dance halls and dives in the territory, over the ownership of some cattle, which resulted in Cress being shot and instantly killed. A few minutes afterwards Frank Nelson, an ex-soldier, in a fit of jealousy, murdered his mistress, Sarah McCharris, and her three-year old child.

Killed for Whipping his Child.

DENVER, July 30. A Dallas, Colo., special to the News, says: A man who has been night herding mules for railroad graders on Leopard creek, shot and killed W. Foster, a ranchman, last night. He then stole a horse from George Hastings' farm and escaped, going towards Montrose. The sheriff is in pursuit and expects soon to capture the man. The cause for the deed was the murderer taking exceptions to Foster whipping his own child. The murdered man leaves a wife and six children in destitute circumstances.

OUR CITY ACCOUNTS.

The resolution proposed by Alderman Gillingham last Monday night was an eminently proper one, though it did not pass. It suggested a policy, for the future regarding our city accounts which it would be well for the council to pursue. The whole method of purchasing goods and auditing accounts is not as systematic and thorough as it should be. We might begin our criticism, however, by stating that no blame attaches to our city officials in this matter. When the city was small and our expenditures were $25,000 to $30,000, the city clerk was purchasing agent of the city, collected the water rents, kept the books, etc. But in the last few years the business of the city has become so great that no one man is able to do this work properly. To do this work properly the city clerk should have a competent assistant. Fifteen hundred dollars more spent in his office would probably be saved by doing the work more thoroughly. The difficulty in finding out the cost of the various additions to the water works made by the old water committee, is the strongest proof possible of a necessity of a change in our bookkeeping. The city's books should be in condition to show at a moment's notice the exact cost of any public improvement or the cost up to the time of examining the books of any uncompleted improvement. There ought also to be some person responsible for all purchases of supplies. At present there are a great many city officials who order what they wish and the order from the city clerk may be given afterwards, no one bearing the whole responsibility. When the bills are audited some city official states the goods are received, but as the auditing committee has not made any contract for price it cannot approve the bill with any great accuracy in this one respect. If all supplies are not only ordered but purchased by one person and he held responsible for the price there would be undoubtedly some saving to the city. Some cities of this size not only have a city clerk but a purchasing agent and an auditor. It might not be necessary for us to create these three distinct offices. The city clerk might be made the purchasing agent while an auditor could be appointed to keep in a thoroughly systematic and intelligent manner the accounts of the city. At present we are spending $100,000 in general expenses and $100,000 in public improvements and yet have the same system of purchasing and of accounts as when the city was spending $30,000 per year. There has been no charge of misappropriation of funds but it is evident that our accounts are not kept as carefully and as closely as they should be.

It is a helpful check on all expenditures to always give the public the fullest possible statement of the accounts of the city. The city of Waltham published last year a book of 300 pages giving full reports of the city clerk, treasurer and auditor; also the expenditures by the school board. This report enables every tax payer to get a clear and satisfactory idea of the expenses of the city and of the cost of the operation of every department, and the cost of every public improvement. When it is known that such statements are to be made in full it may be a very important check on any council that may be disposed to do business loosely if not corruptly. A republican form of government can only be said to be successful when the people voting can be said to have a full knowledge of its operation, so that they know its merits and demerits, and to whom both … may be credited. Then we can be … re of good government. All the corruption in municipal government in this country has been largely due to the fact that the people did not have full knowledge of the acts of its council. There may not have been any effort at secrecy in these city governments, but there was no effort for publicity. To arrange, therefore, now for a thorough system of purchasing and keeping the city's accounts and for a publication of all the details of receipts and expenditures would provide for such publicity that there could be no danger of bad government. It is not business for the city to have its accounts in the shape they are at present.

Prof. Samuels!

Optician
And the Author of the Book,
"The Use and Abuse of the Eye,"
Has arrived in Colorado Springs and can be consulted at
Rooms 12 and 14,
Alamo -:- Hotel!
Prof. Samuels
Offers to those who are suffering from weakness and defective eyesight his improved Crystal Spectacles, superior to any others in use, as the following evidence, taken from the Topeka Capital, of persons who have worn them for years will testify, and the rest will speak for itself.
The following are a few of his numerous unsolicited testimonials:
GOVERNOR'S TESTIMONIAL.
STATE OF KANSAS, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, TOPEKA, May 17th, 1890.
To Whom it May Concern:
I have been compelled to use glasses for the past three or four years, especially at night. During all this time I have tried a good many different glasses, but have never found anything entirely satisfactory until recently.
The glasses furnished and fitted to my eyes by Prof. Samuels are the finest and only ones I have ever used which gave entire satisfaction. I therefore take pleasure in commending Prof. Samuels to all persons who may need his services, believing him to be possessed of extraordinary skill in the line of his profession. Very respectfully,
LYMAN U. HUMPHREY, Governor of Kansas.
PROF. H. G. LARIMER,
TOPEKA, Kan., April 17.
To whom this may come:
I cheerfully commend to your confidence and patronage Prof. H. Samuels, who corrected a very aggravated case of compound astigmatism in my eyes by fitting me with glasses. He thoroughly understands his business, and I have found him reliable in all that he undertakes. No one need feel any hesitation in trusting to his skill as an optician, as he is both a scientist and an artist in that line of work.
Very respectfully,
H. G. LARIMER, Principal Topeka High School.
CHANCELLOR SNOW.
LAWRENCE, Kan., August 10, 1889.
It gives me great pleasure to certify to the great benefits received by my son and daughter, aged respectively 12 and 10 years, by the use of Prof. H. Samuels' glasses. Both of them had suffered from defective sight, so that they had been compelled to abandon school for more than a year. Other eminent authorities had prescribed for them without success, but Prof. Samuels' spectacles gave them immediate and permanent relief. My son is now able to do entirely without glasses, his eyes having been restored to their natural condition by the timely and skillful application of artificial aid.
F. H. SNOW, Chancellor University of Kansas.
ADJ.-GEN. J. N. ROBERTS.
LAWRENCE, Kans., July 2, 1884.
Professor Samuels:
DEAR SIR—The glasses you fitted to my eyes last fall did all you promised. My eyes recovered their strength rapidly, and I have had no occasion to use your glasses for the last six months. Respectfully,
J. N. ROBERTS.
AN OPEN LETTER.
From Lieut.-Gov. A. J. Felt.
TOPEKA, May 14, 1889.
Professor Samuels, Topeka:
DEAR SIR:—Please allow me to say a word for your eyeglasses. For many years the gradual loss of eyesight has caused me unspeakable trouble and annoyance. During that period it was my misfortune to purchase glasses of various dealers, always resulting in the conclusion that the attempt to improve my vision by wearing glasses was an absolute failure. A few weeks since a friend advised me to call on you for advice. The result was the purchase of glasses you recommended and it seems a duty due to others suffering from impaired vision to state that the result has been satisfactory in every particular and that their value to me cannot be measured in money. The work required of me since purchasing your glasses has been unusually trying, and it has surprised and gratified me beyond expression to learn that my vision has greatly improved and that my eyes seem stronger and my vision clearer than for many years before. Very respectfully,
A. J. FELT.
OFFICE HOURS: 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.
Owing to engagements Professor Samuels will remain here but a short time.

News Items and Personals from Manitou and Cascade

MANITOU.

Mrs. G. R. Nelson will give a card party at the Barker this evening.

Mr. Henry R. Burk of Dallas, Texas, has joined his wife at the Barker.

Mr. D. O. Smart, a former guest at the Barker, is again at that hotel, having made a trip around the circle.

Mr. G. Mendel, of Cincinnati, has joined his family, who have been at the Sunny Side for several weeks past.

Mrs. H. C. Morris and family, of Chicago, are guests at the Arlington with the purpose of remaining for the season

Mr. and Mrs. William Otis came up Tuesday evening and remained over Wednesday, on their way to Manitou Park.

A fair is to be held in Manitou, August 11th to 16th, by the Catholic church A diamond pin is to be voted to the most popular head clerk at the resort.

An English artist, camping in Ute Pass within a few miles of Manitou, shot and killed a deer with a revolver, from the door of his tent a few days ago.

Mrs Whitlock has secured quite a large dancing class here, and owing to her untiring efforts the members are making rapid progress in the graceful art.

A party of three of Manitou's young men, Basil Creighton, George Snider and Charles Snider, left last evening for a pleasure trip through the San Luis valley.

The new photograph gallery of Mr. J. G. Hiestand is receiving many visitors. The work that Mr. Mellen is doing is very fine. There is no gallery in the west that can surpass the class of work done here.

Mr. W. E Smiley has just issued a neat four page card which contains information for the public. The first page gives the time tables of all local trains, and the remainder valuable information in regard to Manitou real estate.

Tuesday evening twelve games of progressive euchre with seven tables were played. Mrs Stivers won the first lady's prize, candy, and Mr. Cramer, of Little Rock, the first gentleman's prize, a beet. Mr. Weaver won the foot prize, a cigar tied with ribbons.

There is no greater pleasure in store for the visitors in Manitou than the excursion through the Royal Gorge and Marshall Pass if they will avail themselves of it. The excursion is run next Saturday and will be the only chance of the summer to take this trip in one day. A large number of tickets have already been disposed of and no more will be sold than enough to make a comfortable train load without crowding.

The Snider Stone and Lime company are making shipments of stone this week to Pueblo to be used in the construction of the mineral palace. The two principal columns of the portico are of this stone, very richly carved at a cost of several hundred dollars, which the company donate. It is marvelous how extensively this stone is being used. Shipments are now made all over the United States

CASCADE.

The business man's train seems to be well patronized.

Miss Lela Horn will spend this week at Cascade as the guest of Miss Hext.

Harry Jackson, of Colorado Springs, was registered at the Ramona yesterday.

All who remain at Cascade any length of time become standing monuments to the beneficial effects of the air.

Dr. W. C. Allen came up Tuesday as the guest of J. J. Monell, of Omaha, who is spending the summer here with his mother.

The Cascade company begins this week the work of filling in the space between the station and the hotel. Large forest trees will then be transplanted and a park made, which will improve the appearance of that part of the pass from the trains as well as form a more befitting approach to the canon. It is time the policy of so ruthlessly denuding the pass of trees was reversed.

There is said to be no more enchanting view on the Pikes Peak carriage road than that rounding the hill looking down into Cascade Canon as evening is falling.

"The mountain shadows lie
Like future joys to fancy's eye."

The declining rays of the sun cast long shadows down through the trees, and hills, parted that they may linger the longest in this beauteous vale, then slowly creep to the summits and as if loth to leave and ever looking backward as they go, touch the cloud masses hanging above with a long reflected glow of color that insensibly fades at last into the silvery light of night.

The waiters of the Ramona scour the hills in the intervals of their duties, in search of flowers, and vie with one another in arranging beautiful boquets for their tables. The change in the flowers from week to week shows how rapidly the procession moves. They are not so plentiful in Cascade Canon as they were two years ago, because they have been pulled up, root and branch. The shining trails of kinickinnick that used to cover the hills, are now seldom seen. Strangers cannot be expected to care so much for the preservation of the wild flowers as Coloradoans do, and unless they make something of an organized effort to that end, one of the great charms of our hills and valleys will in a few more years be noticeable chiefly by its absence.

The Marshall Pass Excursion.

There will be no better opportunity of seeing the beauties of Colorado than to make the trip over the Denver and Rio Grande to the Royal Gorge and Marshall Pass next Saturday. This will be the only one day excursion to these points this summer. The train is to be furnished in the most comfortable manner. A large number of tickets have already been sold and no more will be disposed of than can be comfortably accommodated on the train. The train leaves Colorado Springs depot at 7.20.

Some are famous in art, some in music, some in literature, and some for good cooking. It is the famous ones of the latter class we have been looking for for some years. Whenever we heard of any one who was noted for making an article better than her neighbors we learned just how it was done. The result is we offer you a number of articles "as good housekeepers make them." Ask your grocer to show you some of our PICKLES.

Colorado Springs Gardens.

There are few every day interests which so directly concern the health of the family, especially at this season of the year, as the business of the milkman. To deprive us of the staple he serves would be that of a great loss to most of us; certainly to our children, for upon it their proper nourishment depends. When we consider the many complaints made by the press and people regarding impure milk, and the numerous devices resorted to by unscrupulous dealers to impose upon an unsuspecting public an impure article, it becomes a matter of importance to know with whom you are dealing. In this connection I would invite the closest inspection of every department of the management of our cattle—their food, the water they drink, the facilities the animals have for obtaining water at any time, and our ... of handling the milk after obtaining it to the time of delivering it to the many families we supply.

Respectfully,

F. W. ISHAM, Manager.

Mr. E. B Simmons has returned from his eastern trip.

Miss Tyrone Allen, of Sidney, Neb., is a guest of friends in the city for a few weeks.

The circulating library at 305 North Cascade avenue, will be closed for two weeks from to-day.

A man who had refused to pay his poll tax was fined to the tune of $5 50 yesterday, by Magistrate Kinsley.

The fifth annual convention of the Y. M. C. A. state association opens at Glen Park this evening at 7 o'clock.

Dr. Standish of Manitou, has removed to this city for the present and has rooms at the corner of Kiowa and Tejon streets.

Judge A. C. Gowdy, of Fairbury, Neb., is the guest of his friend and relative, Steward Leland, of the Antlers, and will remain in the city some days.

Attorney Chas Smith has taken office room with Dr. Reynolds in the Rowe building, and will have among the most convenient law offices in the city.

A large party of young men from this city will go to Green Mountain Falls this evening in a special car to attend the ball at the hotel this evening.

W. H. Goshen has put in a Philadelphia brick press with a capacity of 2,000 brick per day. He is at present engaged in making some experimental brick.

Mr. Plumb has appointed W. S. McLain chairman of the Iowa day committee, and empowered the committee to fill a vacancy in its ranks caused by the resignation of Col. Bacon

The Rock Island route has put a new special sleeper on their vestibule train, commencing to-night. This car will run between here and Kansas City and will remain here through the day.

Mrs. C. B. Foster, a very important [illegible] estate dealer of southern Texas, is spending the summer at the Cliff House, Manitou Springs. Mrs. Foster enjoys the distinction of being one of the most successful business women in the south. She is accompanied by her daughter, Miss Violet Foster.

The Spanish-American students will give one of their instrumental concerts at the opera house to-morrow evening consisting of banjo, harp, guitar and mandolin solos, also a number of selections by their orchestra. They give a fine concert and will no doubt have a good house.

Sheriff Jackson yesterday arrested John Fo[illegible], of this city, upon a charge of grand larceny committed in Pueblo county. The arrest was made at the request of Sheriff McCarthy and no particulars were given. The Pueblo officers were expected to arrive last night for their man.

Judgment in the case of C. W. Palmer, who was arrested on complaint of Frank Roberts for alleged disorderly conduct, was deferred until this morning. Contrary to general report the Broadmoor company has absolutely no stake or interest in this action, the fight being between Frank Roberts and the firm of Newton & Roberts.

The paper fair given by the Ladies' Aid society of M. E. church, South, closed last evening. In all about $150 was netted, although quite a number of fancy articles remained unsold. The fair was held in the old First National bank building and the novelty and beauty of the paper articles exposed attracted many visitors.

Manager Sellers, of the Alamo, gave another most enjoyable hop in his large dining hall last night. About fifty couples were present and dancing was kept up until a late hour. The hall of the Alamo is one of the best and handsomest dancing halls in El Paso county, and with the good music furnished, these dances are destined to add greatly to the popularity of the Alamo, which is already becoming a favorite point for tourists.

Professor A. P. Haupt, A. M., the author of a system by which he imparts a practical use and knowledge of the German language in a course of five weeks, lectures on his method of instruction at 10 30 a. m. and 4 p. m. in room No. 20, Bank building, on Friday and Saturday, this week. This teacher has a national reputation, having given his course in all the principal cities, and teaches every winter at Washington, D. C., having hundreds in attendance during each course.

It is seldom that such a thoroughly charming entertainment is given at any play house as that which will be offered in the performance of Daniel Frohman's production of the Prince and the Pauper at the opera house next Monday evening, with Elsie Leslie and Manager Frohman's company. The little actress won the hearts of all the theatre goers in the principal eastern cities where it was played last season. They will no doubt be greeted by a full house Monday evening. Reserved seats are now on sale at popular prices.

An item in yesterday's GAZETTE reflected somewhat on Mr. S. J. Keeley, formerly head waiter at the Alamo, by saying that he was discharged from that position for incompetency. Mr. Keeley has a large number of testimonials from hotel keepers, testifying to his ability as a first-class head waiter, and Mr. Sellers of the Alamo joins the rest in testifying to his ability in this line. He left the Alamo to take another position, having given due notice as did the rest of the waiters. The matter has now been completely adjusted and the service at the Alamo is running as smoothly as before.

Central Office for Austin Bluff Property.

The finest Suburban Residence Location combining view of mountain and plain in the state. Beautiful parks, overgrown with large pine trees unequalled as a health location. Pure air, pure water, and plenty of it, both for domestic and irrigating purposes. No smoke! No dust! The track of the Electric Car Line is already laid from one of the parks in the center of this property to the city limits. Cars will be running within a few weeks, bringing this property within fifteen minutes' ride from the postoffice. Several fine residences will be erected on this property at an early date. Special Inducements offered for the next 60 days to parties buying lots with the intention of building at once. Why locate in the smoke and dust of our city when such an opportunity is offered? Each lot contains from one to four acres. Specially adapted for fine residences. This location speaks for itself. All that we ask is an inspection of the property before purchasing.
